

Fall 2017 Teaching and Learning Workshops for Faculty

Hosted by your Faculty Colleagues and the Library/Learning Commons

Session Title	Date	Facilitators	Description
More than the Funny Pages: How Graphic Novels Can Prepare Freshman for College Success	Thursday, September 21st 12:00–1:00 pm Room 101 Library	Mr. Chris Burlingame	Graphic novels have a tremendous potential to help freshmen students bridge the gap with regard to critical reading and practical application of skills by challenging them to employ visual literacy strategies. Faculty members are uniquely positioned to help students become more conscious of these skills so students can transfer them across the curriculum as a means to promoting long-term academic success. Come learn how to point our students in the right direction.
Presenting Research by your MAC Faculty Colleagues Lunch will be provided. Please RSVP to mshuttlesworth@mtaloy.edu at least one week prior to the presentation.	Thursday, October 19th 12:00-1:00 pm Room 201 Library	Members of the Faculty TBD	In this lunch and learn hosted by the Student Research Committee, faculty will present on their current research/creative projects that directly involve MAC students. Lunch will be provided.
Learner Centered Instruction	Thursday, November 2nd 12:00–1:00 pm Room 201 Library	Ms. Lauren Coakley	This presentation will review the steps in designing an online course that's focused on your students and your learning goals. It will also provide ideas on transitioning from a face-to-face to an online course.
A Discussion on Online Course Design: A Process of Trial and Error	Wednesday, November 15th 12:30-1:30 pm Room 101 Library	Dr. Matt Arsenault	Dr. Arsenault will discuss his experience with designing online courses as an evolutionary process.